WEBFOOTER ORIGINS - CONTINUED

Some new information regarding our history was recently discovered and we wanted to share it with you. Prior to the forming of the Webfooters Post Card Club, Charles & Toni West of Salem, Oregon, visited the Windy City Post Card Show in Chicago on Sept. 30, 1961. The Wests were members of the Windy City Club and Charles West won best of show with this exhibit in 1960. Toni West would later become the first secretary-treasurer of the Webfooters at an organizational meeting in September 1965. (Editor's note: Thanks to longtime Webfooter Don Brown, founder of the Institute of American Deltiology, who is celebrating his 30th year as a member of the Webfooters, for finding the photo of the Wests and researching the history of their acquaintance which began in 1961.)

The first official meeting of the Webfooters was held at the Multnomah County Library for the first and last time on January 22, 1966. After the meeting had been scheduled and advertised, it was discovered that the Library did not allow goods to be bought or sold in their meeting room. Being postcard collectors who wanted to buy, sell and trade their cards, they moved their next meeting to the Community Room in the Gateway branch of Far West Federal Savings. Al Powers, who would later become president and later treasurer for many years, was in attendance at this meeting. At this same meeting, Charlie West proposed the adoption of the club slogan "Every subject known to man can be found on a postcard."
